Housing Priority & Eligibility

Will there be a priority system for the 2022-2023 Academic Year?

In order to receive priority consideration, students must meet the admissions and housing deadlines. Housing will be offered using the following priority order:

1. Scholars in UC San Diego programs that provide four years of housing guarantee or mandate living on campus as a condition of their offer.
2. New incoming first-year and transfer students.
3. Returning second-year students, including second-year transfer students who resided in on-campus housing for at least two of three quarters during the 2021-22 academic year. (A lottery system will be used to set the order of invitations. It is likely that some students from this group will be assigned to a housing waitlist.)
4. Remaining second-year students, including second-year transfer students. (These assignments will be made from a waitlist based on waitlist application date. Historically, we are able to accommodate only a very small group in late summer.)
5. Remaining third- and fourth-year students. (These assignments will be made from a waitlist based on waitlist application date. Historically, we are able to accommodate only a very small group in late summer.)

We expect to house groups 1 and 2 and some students from group 3.
